Refreshment for a Thirsty Soul
Friday, 10/19/07 Issue 33

Dear Jon,

Friday: 10/19/07

Psalm 19:14, "Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be acceptable in your sight, O Lord, my Strength and my Redeemer."

What a great prayer Asking God to align our hearts and our words with His Word is something that we need and cannot produce for ourselves. In the Old Testament, there were specific requirements for the sacrificial animals that made them acceptable to God. The lambs, bulls and rams had to be pure, without disease or deformity. The psalmist is referring to our words and thoughts as an acceptable sacrifice on God's altar, being without defect and in line with His Word, which, as we read it, will show us where we need adjusting!

Domino Idea:

Read these verses: Psalm 139:1-4, Psalm 19:7-11; Psalm 35:27-28; Psalm 51:6-12

Comments from you...

"What a great word to start my day. Blessings to those of you that hear and receive from the Lord for our benefit. Now to dress in my heavenly wardrobe."

"Just a reminder that we have to wear the wardrobe with regards to the patio!!!!"

"In all things we do, do it with Joy for our Father! Especially at work, we have to be constantly reminded of this. One of my daily duties is to make cold calls to 30+ Real Estate Agents, and they may not be the friendliest, so last week, God put it in my heart to pray for each individual agent right before I call them. He tells me different things to pray over for them, and even if the call doesn't bring in a new sale, I know they are that much closer to receiving God's blessings in their lives. That makes me look forward to doing these cold calls instead of dreading them. Thank you Lord!! It's amazing how effective prayers are, even if they don't know you're praying for them. So today's message is perfect to add to my prayer list. I will remember to pray for those who are approaching me, too!!

Thank you so much for all these new ideas on ways to pray!! Makes day to day life so much more precious!! 😊 "
